

Why Resilience Matters

Dave Sanderson

---

- You don't need a title to lead. You need clarity, courage, and conviction.
- Help others lead when it matters most

Dave Sanderson

Dave Sanderson Speaks International

Dave Sanderson was the last passenger off US Airways Flight 1549, the Miracle on the Hudson. He survived, then he made a decision: he wouldn't let that moment be the end of the story.

With 38 years as a top sales producer and decades of experience leading under pressure, Dave founded Resilience Partners Group to help leaders and teams navigate crisis, uncertainty, and high-stakes change—without waiting for permission, perfect clarity, or a title. His work equips people to stay calm, make high-velocity decisions, and take the next best step even when the full path isn't visible.

Dave has delivered keynotes for Fortune 500 organizations, coached executives, and helped raise $14.8 million for the American Red Cross. Named one of Inc.com's Top 100 Leadership Speakers, he is known for blending unforgettable storytelling with practical, immediately applicable tools.

Dave's message is simple: You don't need a title to lead. You need clarity, courage, and conviction.

Dave lives in Charlotte with his family—and speaks today with one goal: to help others lead when it matters most.